The Republican Party and the Country.

The New York Times, discussing the South Carolina and Louisiana, save :

It seems to us that this is a very unfor on the Administration to keep the States of South Carolina and Louisiana in the Republican ranks. Could it be expected that President Hayes would devote himself to such a waring of the railroads, South the real value, while sinking in market price. No inopposite city building to also proposite city building to also proposite city building to also proposite city building to also provide city bu self to such a partisan object? The vestments will pay better to those who President's dogma must be remem-bered: "He serves his party best who thus recover what was lost when our gov-serves his country best." No man had a ernment bonds were sold at a low price right to expect that Gov. Hayes would in Europe, by the same process of buying sink the patriot in the partisan. He will build up the Republican party by recognizing it as the party of the nation, and making it the instrument for unify-ing, harmonizing and benefiting every portion of the national commonwealth. If this not sufficiently partisan to suit statesmanlike, and so unmistakably patriotic that it will command the confi dence and support of the country.

Besides, how were these States to be kept in the Republican party? What is the process proposed? Both Chamber-lain and Packard declared that they could not sust in themselves, in the ab sence of Federal troops. The result ha already proved that, in this regard a least, they truly comprehended the situa tion. As soon as the shadow of Federa authority is removed, their governments melt away like frost-palaces under tropical sun. Does the Times think that that it would be good policy to attempt the preservation of Republican govern-ments in South Carolina and Louisiann, at the point of Federal bayo oneta? This was the only alter-native to the course of conciliation pursued by President Hayes. The intinets and traditions of the American people are all in favor of a government by law, and not by military power. Pres ident Hayes might, perhaps, have maintained Republican ascendency in the States mentioned if he had employed the army for that purpose, but he lacked th Constitutional authority thus to interpoin the government of States, and he would, doubtless, by a Democratic House have been deprived of an army to employ in that manner. Such a course as the Hasbeen dramatized and will be performed Times seems to think ought to have been pursued, would have destroyed utterly the Republican party in a majority of the Northern States. If something has been lost in South Carolina and Louisiana, very much more ha been gained in North Carolina and Ten nessee, and in New York, Connecticut and Indiana—to say nothing of the moral strength recurred by the party in every visited again son by Oil Falket of an age to matter portion of the land, -from the success of its policy and the manifest justness and mederation of its conduct. Gen, Grant used the military power of the nation to suppress disorders in the Southern States, and, as the Times boldly presents it, to maintain Republican ascendancy in that section. But he did not succeed as fully as was anticipated. There were outbreaks, mobs and murders, despite the pressure and power of Federal arms. Many innocent negroe were slaughtered, and the whole country suffered as the result of the disturbances which existed. Did the Republican party gain by this policy? It lost Arkansas, Tennessee, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia and North Carolina. The South was made almost solid for the Democracy What is more, the party in all the land staggered under a load too great to be carried. It narrowly escaped defeat in the Presidential struggle. The passions of the war had subsided, and could not again be aroused. Even the Times de clares that "the South has been quite as much of a hindrance as a help to Republicans at the North." Why is it, then, that journals which sustained General Grant's losing policy, are so disposed to complain of the different course taken by President Hayes? If General Grant was not to blame for the loss to the Re publicans of Mississippi and Arkansa and other Southern States, is President Hayes to be rebuked if, as the result of his policy of conciliation, two more Southern States are captured by the Democracy? The Administration will not only give peace to the nation, but also strength and victory to the Republican party where they are most needed.

The Improvement Continues. The bank clearings of the principal cities continue to show an improvement In trade. Ten cities reporting for the three weeks ending April 21st, show an aggregate increase in the money value of business done of 16 per cent over the corresponding three weeks of last year. Even our neighbor, Pittsburgh, which is suffering so much on account of the great depression in the iron business, shows a gain-very slight, to be sure, but nevertheless a gain. When we consider that iron values are lower than they were last year, we can see that the amount of actual business done must be materially

The gain in Chicago & Milwaukee is very decidedly greater, on account of the heavy movement in breadstuffs. In the former it amounts to 13,7 and in the lat ter to 14.5 per cent. In New York it is 22.2, Boston 7.4, Baltimore 3.8, New Orleans 7.7 and Louisville 3.9.

For the five weeks ending April 21 the aggregate clearings of 10 cities were $2,-846,580,760 as against $2,542,449,766 last year, showing a gain of over 60 millions each week over last year in the money value of the business done. This is cer tainly encouraging, and looks as if the long looked for reflux of its business trade had set in.

We are sorry that the banks in Wheeling do not keep a record of their clearings, inasmuch as we believe it would show a considerable improvement at this point in the volume of business over last year. But in the absence of such a satisfactory chronometer we can only judge from the concurrent reports of leading business men that trade is active and improving

THE New York Herald thinks that the railway property in the United States will be affected in two opposite ways by the war. American railroad scentities having been discredited by recent events, when the belligerents wish to borrow money at exorbitant rates of interest those securities will be sent here for sale and the proceeds invested in Russian or Turkish bonds on the principle that holders are merely exchanging one bad security for another and that a bad Conding.

New York Times, discussing the security with a very high rate of interest is preferable to a bad security with a very high rate of interest is preferable to a bad security with a very high rate of interest is preferable to a bad security with a very high rate of interest is preferable to a bad security with a very high rate of interest is preferable to a bad security with Sock Beer will be on tap.
